

Passenger Transportation – MSc course

Course requirements 2022/2023 spring semester

Subject Code:	BMEKOKUM208
Lectures(/week):	2 hours lectures and 2 hours practice
Credit Points:	5
Evaluation:	examination
Lecturer:	Csaba CSISZÁR DSc	associate professor
Seminars:	Bálint CSONKA PhD	research associate
	Dávid FÖLDES PhD	research associate

Attendance on classes:

According to the TVSz (study-code)

Mid-terms:

First: 19th April 12:15; retake 25th May 16:15

Second: 24th May 12:15; retake 31st May 12:15

scope: learning material discussed on the previous weeks

Up to ONE mid-term can be retaken in the supplementary week.

Assignments:

Travel quality analysis assignment – submission deadline: 4 May

P+R facility planning assignment – submission deadline: 15 May

Passenger transport systems comparison assignment – submission deadline: 21 May

(presentation is possible, if the Power Point file is also submitted before deadline; presentation date will be announced after the submission deadline)

Evaluation:

Mid-terms: max. 25 points per mid-term

Travel quality analysis assignment: max. 20 points

P+R facility planning assignment: max. 10 points

Passenger transport systems comparison: max. 10 points

Passenger transport systems comparison - presentation: max. 10 points

The mid-semester ‘signature’ (acknowledgement of fulfilment) is obtained if all midterms are passed and the assignments are submitted and accepted. Extra fee according to TVSz (study-code) is required in case of each late submission or retake of mid-term in the supplementary week.

Registration for an exam in NEPTUN system is required. The way of examination is oral. Scores received on the exam (max 50 points) replace the scores of the mid-terms. Final grade: based on the total score (max 100 points).

(In some cases, the final mark may be proposed/offered. Some possible aspects, which may be considered: points, submission of home assignment before deadline (and acceptance), midterms are passed without retake, cooperative attendance in the lectures. Questions and complains regarding proposed final marks are refused.)

Budapest, February 2023

Csaba Csiszár DSc
associate professor